

The panel discussion to follow the film will be produced in cooperation with NorCal Media/KRCB.

The confirmed panelists, to date include:

Effie Rawlings, UC Gill Tract Community Farm member, the originator of Occupy The Farm

Ashoka Finley, a graduate of UC Berkeley and member of Occupy The Farm, works in technology, urban farming, and is part of a start up in San Francisco

Will Smith, of Black Earth Farmers, took responsibility for managing farming operations at the UC Gill Tract Community Farm just prior to the pandemic. He has led farming, and food distribution for the Gill Tract since 2019.

Charisma Acey, is an Assoc. Professor in the College of Environmental Design, where she teaches City and Regional Planning Prof. Acey has been working with the farm and also serves as the Faculty Director for the Berkeley Food Institute. She is also Affiliated Faculty for: Center for African Studies, <https://africa.berkeley.edu/> ; Development Engineering, <https://blumcenter.berkeley.edu/academics/deveng-de/> ; Berkeley Water Center, <http://bwc.berkeley.edu/>; Global Urban Humanities Initiative, <http://globalurbanhumanities.berkeley.edu/> ; and the Institute of Urban and Regional Development, <http://iurd.berkeley.edu/> <https://ced.berkeley.edu/ced/faculty-staff/charisma-acey>

Todd Darling, director/producer of Occupy The Farm.